Special Events:

Cinco de Mayo

We will be doing interesting things relating to this event.

Mother's Day

Your child will bring home something special for you.

May 23rd, Friday

Our kids will be having a backyard picnic.

Dear Parents,

It is already the month of May. How time flies by!! It's been a pleasure working with your kids. Their achievements are our rewards.

April has been a busy month for the kids in our program. They have experimented with various mediums of art. Watching some kids do arts and crafts sometimes is so much fun....glue and paint all over while others give a look like 'eww' but end up using the glue etc. anyways.

We wind up each week by exploring new topics in our study time on Friday. In April, we had fun learning about the senses and life cycle of a butterfly, life cycle of a bird and water cycle. Kids got to watch an animated version of water cycle and to watch a short song video. They loved it so much that they wanted to watch it a couple of times.

Kids who didn't do much during study time earlier, are now finishing worksheets each day and that is awesome.

New Reward System:

We have introduced a reward system for our kids to motivate them to listen to teachers, behave or finish their activities. They have to earn 1 star for each period and if they have earned all stars for the day, they get a birdie buck which they can use to get small prizes. Earning stars mean big business to them. The kids are striving to earn all stars. Some of them have already brought home their rewards.
